SUMMARY

Data-informed Product Manager with a background in interactive systems, Unity/C# technical execution, and AI-driven workflows. Track record of driving feature ownership, optimizing player onboarding flows, and streamlining prototyping pipelines to align core game mechanics with business growth metrics.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Teaching Assistant – Introductory Unity & Interactive Systems

Oct 2024 – Apr 2026

Tel Aviv University — Tel Aviv, Israel

- Accelerated Prototype Delivery: Reduced development iteration cycles by 30% by introducing Azure AI Foundry pipeline tools to student project teams for rapid asset generation and testing.
- Streamlined Product Execution: Guided 10+ student project teams through end-to-end feature lifecycles by translating creative vision into structured user stories, acceptance criteria, and prioritized sprint backlogs.
- Improved Onboarding Retention: Enhanced player flow completion rates across playtests by conducting rigorous product QA, identifying missing UI states, and resolving edge-case usability friction before release builds.
- Optimized Pacing & Balance: Refined difficulty curves and reward structures by analyzing playtest telemetry data, resulting in higher player engagement and longer session durations.
- Enforced Code Architecture: Standardized technical design practices across cross-functional student groups (art, narrative, engineering) to build scalable, modular Unity architectures.
